Update (03/30/2017)

A recent wiki user purge has been made. We are down to 50 users, mostly forums users that are susceptible of being active on the wiki. If you are a forums members with more than 5 posts as of 02/2016 you might have an active account here with Tech status (edit, approve and create rights) or Publisher status (edit, approve, create and delete rights). Wiki password has been sent by email when the wiki opened (02/2016).

If you are a forum user registered after this date or someone that is not registered on the forum, you can register on the wiki and will automatically be granted the User status (edit rights only). When we see you are active on the wiki and that you are not a troll/spammer/bot, you will be placed in the Tech group. An additional probation period and proof of activity is necessary to be in the Publisher group.
